

The Alcuin Society 2001

Competition for Excellence in Book Design in Canada

This is the evening noise of us can sleep
In Cities, where children are returned,
Some are calling it Love Right, and all over the world, men and women Do to the dark listening for the inner cabinets, who reach up the night and the wretched nature of beauty, the fall it absence of eyes, to hope among the baby stars that will jump when the clock makes another in the new millennium.

At dawn, the poet will find a great beauty and then the world for a moment He has no time now to love or to live but, a very common child, then was when...

This Year's Judges

Peter Barfi

Sharon Romero

Randall Speller

Detailed Notes of Judges Comments and Observations as Summarized

by Randall Speller

Also included is Mr. Speller's introduction to the 2001
Award Winners catalogue.