

PREFACE

Anglo-Saxon Manuscripts in Microfiche Facsimile provides students and scholars with a fundamental tool in the field of Anglo-Saxon studies. The project aims to produce complete microfiche facsimiles of the nearly five hundred manuscripts containing Old English. Each issue or volume presents facsimiles and descriptions of about ten manuscripts prepared by one or more scholars. The facsimiles are in most cases produced from existing film stock provided by the holding libraries. New photography is limited to those manuscripts not yet photographed or poorly photographed. The images are up to the standards expected of good microfilm reproduction. Each description provides in brief compass the manuscript's history, codicological features, a collation, a detailed list of contents, and a selected bibliography. The descriptions are intended to be used with the photographic images to maximize their usefulness to scholars who do not have immediate access to originals or who may be unacquainted with the manuscript and its scholarship.

Manuscripts are reproduced in toto, even though the post-Anglo-Saxon material that is found as part of many of them may demonstrate no immediate or ultimate relationship with Anglo-Saxon interests. To have edited the facsimiles, presenting only confirmed Anglo-Saxon parts, might have eliminated important material to be noticed or discovered and in any case would remove the Anglo-Saxon vestiges from their actual material contexts. Users must decide for themselves the relevance of the images presented in this series. Several later manuscripts are included in this series even though they were not considered Anglo-Saxon by Neil R. Ker; in our view, these manuscripts have clear connections to undoubted Anglo-Saxon texts.

Each manuscript is assigned a main index number for this series; that number is given before the shelf-mark and always appears bolded and in square brackets after the shelf-mark when a manuscript in this series is mentioned in the body of a description. The index number is concorded with the catalogue numbers of Ker and Gneuss. A complete handlist of all manuscripts included in the project has been published in Vol. 15. An interim cumulative index of volumes 1–10 has been published as a separate volume (2006). An interim cumulative index of volumes 1–25 is planned; a final comprehensive index will follow the completion of the volumes of descriptions, now projected as about 43 in number. The manuscript descriptions, after being revised, will also be published as a separate publication towards the conclusion of this project. Users of these descriptions (and of the indices) are requested to bring any errors, omissions, or relevant new scholarship to the attention of the publishers or the editors.

The editors are grateful to the National Endowment for the Humanities, an independent federal agency, for generous grants in support of the project. Thanks are also due to the Evjue Foundation of Madison, Wisconsin and to the International Society of Anglo-Saxonists for generous gifts.

The editor and describer wish to thank the following for their help and permission to use images of manuscripts in their care: Dr. P. N. R. Zutshi, Keeper of Manuscript and University Archives, Cambridge University Library and its helpful staff; the Master and Fellows of Trinity College Cambridge and Dr. David McKitterick, the director of the Wren Library; the Dean and Chapter of Exeter Cathedral, and Peter Thomas, Librarian; Melanie Barber, former Deputy Librarian and R. J. Palmer, present Librarian and Archivist of Lambeth Palace Library; Mary Clapinson, former Keeper of Western Manuscripts of the Bodleian Library and Chris Fletcher, present Keeper, and Dr. Bruce Barker-Benfield and Dr. Martin Kaufmann, Curators of Western Manuscripts in the Bodleian Library; Bibliothèque Nationale in Paris. All manuscript images in this volume are under copyright and may not be reproduced without the written consent of the respective owners. The describer particularly wants to thank Dr. Barker-Benfield Mr. Sandy Paul of the Wren Library, Patrick Conner, and Elaine Treharne for assistance, suggestions and references and Damian Fleming for providing his unpublished dissertation.

The editor is grateful to Prof. Robert Bjork, Director of the Arizona Center for Medieval and Renaissance Studies at Arizona State University, Tempe, for agreeing to publish the project and to the excellent staff, particularly Roy Rukila, Todd Halvorsen, and Leslie MacCoull, who have been of much assistance with this and preceding volumes.
