the first time I have seen a Phalaenoptilus in the field. It was a large bird, dark brown above, with a white patch on each wing, and a white patch on the tail. It had a long, thin beak, and its feet were very long and strong. It was perched on a branch of a tree, and it was looking down at something on the ground. I could not see what it was looking at, but it seemed to be interested in it. The bird was very quiet, and it did not move much. It was a very beautiful bird, and I was glad to see it.

Preface

Anglo-Saxon Manuscripts in Microfiche Facsimile provides students and scholars with a fundamental tool in the field of Anglo-Saxon studies. The project aims to produce over the next six years complete microfiche facsimiles of the nearly five hundred manuscripts containing Old English. Each issue or volume will present facsimiles and descriptions of about ten manuscripts prepared by one or more scholars. The facsimiles are in most cases produced from existing film stock provided by the holding libraries. New photography will be limited to those manuscripts not yet photographed or poorly photographed. Images provided will be up to the standards expected of a good microfilm reproduction. Each description provides in brief compass the manuscript's history, codicological features, a collation, a detailed list of contents, and a selected bibliography, as well as notes on special features and problems. The descriptions are intended to be used with the photographic images to maximize their usefulness to scholars who do not have immediate access to the originals or who may be previously unacquainted with the manuscript and its scholarship.

Manuscripts are reproduced in toto, even though the post-Anglo-Saxon material that is found as part of many of them may demonstrate no immediate or ultimate relationship with Anglo-Saxon interests. To have edited the facsimiles, presenting only confirmed Anglo-Saxon parts, could well eliminate important material to be noticed or discovered and in any case removes the Anglo-Saxon vestiges from their actual material contexts. Users must decide for themselves the relevance of the images presented in this series. Several later manuscripts are included in this series even though they were not considered Anglo-Saxon by Neil R. Ker; in our view, these manuscripts seem to have clear connections with or bearings on undoubted Anglo-Saxon texts.

Each manuscript is assigned a main catalogue number for this series, which is given before the shelfmark. This catalogue number is concorded with the catalogue numbers of Ker and Gneuss. A comprehensive list of ASM numbers will be issued with the series, together with a concordance-list of Ker numbers. Cumulative indexes will be issued from time to time, and a general index and an index of incipits will be published as the final volume of the series. The manuscript descriptions, after being revised, will also be published as a separate publication towards the conclusion of this project. The editors request that any errors, omissions, or relevant new scholarship be brought to their attention.

The editors wish to thank The Research Materials Divisions of the National Endowment for the Humanities, an independent federal agency, for a generous grant in support of the project. The editors also wish to express their gratitude to the director and staff of the British Library for permission to reproduce the manuscripts, for agreeing to waive fees for rights to reproduction, and for their enthusiastic support for this project. Finally, the editors wish to thank Mario A. Di Cesare and the staff of Medieval & Renaissance Texts & Studies for agreeing to undertake the publication of this project and for their close cooperation throughout its production.

Notes to Users

The header of each fiche includes the following information, on two lines: (1) assigned catalogue number; city, library, and shelfmark;<sup>1</sup> ASM volume and sequence number; fiche number; (2) Ker number,<sup>2</sup> Gneuss number,<sup>3</sup> and short title or indication of contents. The layout is as follows:

Ker 137, Gneuss 308	Heliand

In the descriptions which follow, in cases where Ker's dating of a manuscript is cited, readers should note that dating is indicated by quar-

166. London, British Library, Additional 37517
“Bosworth Psalter,” “Canterbury Hymnal” (ff. 105r–128r)

[Ker 129, Gneuss 291]

HISTORY: The psalter proper (ff. 4r–95r), Ps. 151 (f. 95v), canticles (ff. 96r–104r), hymns (ff. 105r–128r), and monastic canticles (ff. 129r–135r) were written in the second half of the 10c, the calendar (ff. 2r–3r), litany (f. 104rv), texts and prayers of the Mass (ff. 135v–139v) somewhat later (10/11c); a 12c hand has added in two columns on f. 64r/5–24 a series of incipits and rubrics to intercessory prayers and the psalm verses to be used with them. The extensive Latin commentary (see below) was added in the 12c. Gasquet and Bishop (1908) demonstrate that the calendar ultimately derives from a Glastonbury exemplar, but adapted for Canterbury use, specifically, as Korhammer (1973) shows, Christ Church. Belonged in the 16c to Archbishop Thomas Cramner (f. 2r Thomas Cantuarien(sis)), Henry Fitz-Alan (the earl of Arundel), and Lord Lumley, his son-in-law (see f. 2r for signatures). After Lord Lumley’s death in 1609, the manuscript was purchased as part of a collection by James I, but was later (under unclear circumstances) made part of the collection of O. Turville-Petre of Bosworth Hall before 1789, and purchased from the Turville-Petre family in 1907 (see Ker Cat.; Gasquet and Bishop 1908: 3–4).

CODICOLOGICAL DESCRIPTION: Leaf size 390 x 265 mm.; writing grid 310 x 185 mm. Psalter proper ruled for twenty-five lines. Ruled for interlinear and marginal glosses as needed. Prickings visible in outer margins. Bound in oak boards secured by five leather hinges that tuck beneath a red leather spine. The inside cover bears a bookplate with the name “F. Fortescue Turvile.” Two modern paper leaves precede f. 1, the first with the notation “Purchased of O. Turville-Petre Esq. 13 July, 1907,” and including two small sheets pasted in containing a list of bibliographical items relevant to the codex. The second paper leaf bears a paste-in with the following:

5. A large Ms bound in oak boards. The first three folios from another Ms exquisitely written. On the 2nd folio are the names Thomas Cantuarieñ and at the foot Arundel and Lumley. The body of the Ms is a Psalter with interlinear directions &c inserted at a later date than the original Ms which is early. This Ms probably came from the library of the Archbishop of Canterbury and was given by him to the Earl of Arundel who gave it to his son in law Lord Lumley.

F. 1r shows modern repairs to the upper right of the leaf. F. 1v, containing computistical notes on the calendar, shows two registers, the upper in red, green, blue, and brown inks; the bottom register was never entered, although it is framed. Ff. 1 and 2–3 were prepared as a unit, as ink and ruling show. Natural holes are seen in ff. 6, 18, 27, 54, 63, 84, 89, 92, 93, 97, 100, 111, 114, 117. A wormhole shows on f. 120 and continues to the end of the manuscript, as does a second on f. 129, and others on f. 130 and following. A brown smudge occurs on f. 87r and a lighter one at the bottom right of f. 135v. F. 128v shows a number of diagonal slashes made in the leaf through the picture of Christ, with a few small modern patches used to strengthen the leaf. Similar slashes occur on f. 131v. The word "Alleluia" is incised in large letters in dry-point in the bottom margin of f. 110v, causing an imprint on f. 109v. F. 135v (the beginning of the prayers and texts for the Mass) shows two large initials, the first a P drawn in lead retraced in brown ink; the second, a T, remains unfinished, having been marked out heavily in lead. On f. 98v occur two drypoint drawings in the left margin of two hands; f. 85v shows an initial letter "B" in drypoint to the left of "Beati." Two modern paper leaves are bound at the end of the manuscript, the first giving foliation and examination date of 1907, the second bearing a note that ff. 32–33 were treated with ethanol peroxide in 1984.

Full Latin commentary is added for Pss. 1–39 (ff. 4r–26r) and Pss. 71–82 (ff. 44r–53r); titular Latin commentary is added for psalms 40–50 (ff. 26v–32r). Psalm titles and numbers are omitted from Pss. 72–118, 131–138, and 144–151. Ps. 118 shows rubricated divisions at v. 161 (f. 83r) and v. 169 (f. 83v). Ps. 119 is unnumbered but bears a title. Both titles and numbers begin again with Psalm 120 (f. 83v). Until f. 51v (Ps. 79), all initial letters are in green ink, after which blue and red initials generally alternate (blue: Pss. 80, 85, 103, 105, 108, 110, 112, 114, 116, 118, 121, 123, 125, 127, 129, 132, 134, 136, 138, 140, 145, 147, 148, 150; red: Pss. 104, 106, 107, 111, 113, 115, 117, 119, 120, 122, 124, 126, 128, 131, 133, 135, 137, 139, 141, 142, 143, 146, 149, 151). Benedictine divisions within the psalter are indicated by display lines at Pss.

20, 26, 32, 38, 45, 59, 68, 73, 85, 95, 101, 105; expected divisions at Pss. 52 and 79 are wanting. Divisions within the psalms are indicated in either red or blue or in one instance green by “Diuisio sancti benedicti abbatis” (f. 24r), “Diuisio benedicti” (f. 42r), “Diuisio institutionis benedicti” (ff. 41r, 92r), “Diusio beati benedicti” (f. 100r), etc. (on Benedictine psalm-divisions, see Bishop and Gasquet 1907: 10, Sisam and Sisam 1959: 4). The psalms show frequent alterations to the Gallican version, usually indicated by underlining of the particular portion of text with the altered text added (typically) above, often embedded in the Latin commentary and apparently added after the commentary.

The OE gloss is found at Pss. 40.5, 50.1–5 (erased) and 6–21, 53.3–9, 63, 66, 68, 69, 70, 85, 101, 118–133, 139.2 and 9, 140.1–4, 142. For the canticles, see the distribution of contents below for ff. 101–104.

COLLATION: Ff. [ii] + 139 + [ii]. Three early flyleaves (ff. 1–3), I<sup>8</sup> (ff. 4–11), II<sup>8</sup> (ff. 12–19), III<sup>8</sup> (ff. 20–27), IV<sup>8</sup> (ff. 28–35), V<sup>8</sup> (ff. 36–43), VI<sup>8</sup> (ff. 44–51), VII<sup>8</sup> (ff. 52–59), VIII<sup>8</sup> (ff. 60–68), IX<sup>8</sup> (ff. 69–76), X<sup>8</sup> (ff. 77–84), XI<sup>8</sup> (ff. 85–92), XII<sup>8</sup> (ff. 93–100), XIII<sup>8</sup> (ff. 101–108), XIV<sup>8</sup> (ff. 109–116), XV<sup>8</sup> (ff. 117–124), XVI<sup>8</sup> (ff. 125–132), XVII<sup>8</sup> (ff. 133–138), one early flyleaf (f. 139).

174. London, British Library, Arundel 60

"Arundel Psalter"

[Ker 134, Gneuss 304]

HISTORY: Dated to the second half of the 11c, and probably written in Winchester (New Minster). The manuscript was given to the Royal Society by Henry Howard in 1667 (f. 1r) and acquired by the British Library in 1831.

CODICOLOGICAL DESCRIPTION: Leaves measure 302 x 200 mm. Writing grids vary: in the psalms and litany, 250 x 155 mm.; in the prayers (ff. 133v-142v), 230 x 120 mm. Flyleaves are modern. Rebound in modern oak boards.

The table on f. 1r is arranged in framed columns, with blue and red initial letters. At the bottom of the leaf is a stamp bearing the inscription "Soc. Reg. Lond. ex dono Henr. Howard Norfolciensis." The calendar on ff. 2r-7v is ruled for thirty-four lines, with blue and red initial letters and representations of zodiacal figures in red in the margins. Ker (Cat.: 166-67) notes that the margins of ff. 8v-11r contain ca. eighty-seven marginal glosses of s. xiii/xiv; those on 10v-11r are alphabetically arranged from A-V; the glosses are only partly legible. The Beatus vir page (f. 13r) shows a large decorated initial, with a musician playing the harp in the lower lobe and a dancer in the top lobe; the page is framed with an acanthus leaf border. The colors are green, blue, red, and yellow, with silver. F. 52v (before Ps. 51) shows a full-page illumination of Christ on the Cross. Large decorated initials are found at ff. 53r (Ps. 51) and 85r (Ps. 101). Arabic numerals are written in the margins of ff. 136r, 137v, 138r, 143r, 144r, 145r, 149v.

Quires IV, V, VII, VIII, IX, X, XI, XII, XII, and IV show a marked pattern in their composition. Each shows two leaves inserted. Quires IV, VII, and XI display the pattern: 2 leaves + stub + inserted leaf + 2 leaves + stub + inserted leaf + 2 leaves; quires VIII, IX, X, XII, XIII, and XIV show the pattern: 2 leaves + inserted leaf + stub + 2 leaves + stub + inserted leaf + 2 leaves. Quire V is made up of ten leaves: 2 leaves + stub + inserted leaf + 4 leaves + stub + inserted leaf + 2 leaves. Quire XVII (ff. 133r–136v) is an added quire, not in the main hand. The paraphrase of Ps. 50 begins at the end of the last leaf of quire V; quire VI (containing the remainder of the paraphrase exclusively) was probably prepared separately and inserted, although as part of the (probably modified) design. As Lapidge (1991: 68) notes, “the litany (ff. 130r–132v) formed part of the original book, although the last part of the litany...was lost at some point and replaced when the two quires were added to the manuscript (ff. 133–142) in the second half of the twelfth century.”

COLLATION: Ff. [i] + 149 + [i]. I<sup>12</sup> (ff. 1–12), II<sup>8</sup> (ff. 13–20), III<sup>8</sup> (ff. 21–28), IV<sup>6+2</sup> (ff. 29–46: stub of f. 30 shows after f. 34; that of f. 34 shows after f. 31), V<sup>8+2</sup> (ff. 37–46; stub of f. 39 shows after f. 43; that of f. 44 shows after f. 39), VI<sup>6</sup> (ff. 47–52), VII<sup>6+2</sup> (ff. 53–60: stub of f. 55 shows after f. 58; that of f. 58 shows after f. 55), VIII<sup>6+2</sup> (ff. 61–68: stub of f. 63 shows after f. 65; that of f. 66 shows after f. 62), IX<sup>6+2</sup> (ff. 69–76: stub of f. 71 shows after f. 73; that of f. 74 shows after f. 70), X<sup>6+2</sup> (ff. 77–84: stub of f. 79 shows after f. 81; that of f. 82 shows after f. 78), XI<sup>6+2</sup> (ff. 85–92: stub to f. 87 shows after f. 90; that of f. 90 shows after f. 87), XII<sup>6+2</sup> (ff. 93–100: stub of f. 95 shows after f. 97; that of f. 98 shows after f. 94), XIII<sup>6+2</sup> (ff. 101–108: stub of f. 103 shows after f. 105; that of f. 106 shows after f. 102), XIV<sup>6+2</sup> (ff. 109–116: stub of f. 111 shows after f. 113; that of f. 114 shows after f. 110), XV<sup>8</sup> (ff. 117–124), XVI<sup>8</sup> (ff. 125–132), XVII<sup>4</sup> (ff. 133–136), XVIII<sup>6</sup> (ff. 137–142), XIX<sup>4+3</sup> (ff. 143–149: stub of f. 144 shows after f. 146; that of f. 147 shows after f. 143; that of f. 149 before f. 143).

CONTENTS:

1. Prefatory matter:

- f. 1r Table of good and bad moons: Ad sanguinem minuendum ‘Luna i Tota die bona est.... Luna xxx Non est bona’.
- f. 1v Diagram showing calculation of the calendar. Four quarter spheres in the upper register, with circle in center. Above the circle the heading Ratio calculandi. Four columns in the lower register.
- ff. 2r–7v Calendar (ed. Wormald 1934: 142–53).
- ff. 8r–9r Lunar tables. The margins of ff. 8v–9r contain late glosses incised with a blunt (lead?) point; most are difficult to read.
- f. 9v Tables for calculating the limits of Septuagesima, Quadragesima, Easter, Rogationtide, and Pentecost.

- f. 10r Verses for the limits of Quadragesima and Easter, arranged in two main columns. Col. a: Terminus secunde | lunae initii | 'Octone martis. k(a)l(ende) quinq(ue)'; Col. b: Terminus quarta deci(ma) | lunae paschalis. | 'None april(is). norunt q(u)inos'. Below, in a separate register: Argum(en)ta Quo inueniatur aduentus d(omi)ni | 'Qui-cu(m)q(ue) aduentu(m) d(omi)ni celebrare desiderat uideat'.
- ff. 10v–11r Lunar tables. In the lower register of f. 10v: De ratione saltus lunae | 'Memento quod anno nouissimo'. [Margins contain late glosses incised with a blunt (lead?) point; most are difficult to read.]
- ff. 11v–12r Tables.
- f. 12v Full-page illumination, showing Christ on the Cross, with Mary to the left and John to the right, and Sol and Luna represented in medallions at the top. In green, blue, and red.

2. Psalms:

- ff. 13r–119r/17 Gallican version of the psalms (ed. Oess 1910), with continuous interlinear OE gloss. A space of three lines separates the unglossed Ps. 151 from Ps. 150, linking it with the canticles.
- ff. 46v–52r. Latin paraphrase (unglossed) of Ps. 50: 'Miserere mei d(eu)s . s(e)c(un)d(u)m magnam mis(er)i)c(or)diam tuam....Gl(ori)a tibi trinitas equalis | una deitas . & ante omnia s(ae)c(u)la & nunc | & in perpetuum AMEN'.

175. London, British Library, Arundel 155

Psalter, canticles, prayers, hymns

[Ker 135, Gneuss 306]

HISTORY: Written in the first half of the 11c at Christ Church, Canterbury, with alterations and additions in the 12c (see below). At the top of f. iv recto and again on f. 8r: "Si qui inuenerit hu(n)c libru(m) Restituat do(m)pno Will(el)mo yngram"; below in a different hand: "Procter uendidit A(nn)o 1592." As Ker (Cat.) notes, "Ingram was warden of the Martyrdom in the cathedral in 1508." F. 1v bears the colophon: "Psalte-rium Domini Iohannis Walthan Monachii Ecclesie Chr(ist)i cant' Ex dono domini W. Hadley Supp(r)ioris." On ff. 2r and 133r: "William Howarde 1592." F. 12r bears the stamp: "Soc. Reg. Lond. ex dono Henr. Howard Norfolciensis." Donated by Howard to the Royal Society in 1667. Acquired by the British Museum in 1831.

CODICOLOGICAL DESCRIPTION: Leaves measure 290 x 211 mm., with a writing grid of 205 x 150 mm. Leaves are hair side out. Ff. 1–11 are ruled for thirty-five lines, although, e.g., in the tables following the calendar, the vertical rulings indicating columns are ignored, being appropriate to the layout of the calendar only. The psalms are ruled for twenty-three lines; ff. 137–141r contain twenty-seven lines, the litany (ff. 141v–143r) twenty-seven lines. Ff. 143r (following the litany) to f. 170v are in two columns of twenty-five lines. The codex underwent major alteration in the 12c with the removal of leaves after f. 136, the erasure of the original text and rewriting on ff. 135r/18–136 and, in part, on f. 134r/23–134v/5, and the addition of thirty-four leaves after f. 136. Ff. 145–146 comprise a bifolium in a hand markedly different from that responsible for the added folios. The texts on these leaves, ruled for thirty-seven lines (with each column crossed through with a large "X"), all lack initial letters to the incipits. The psalms also show significant alterations throughout, mostly in adapting the Roman text to the Gallican version; these alterations are made in a dull brown ink, lighter than the original ink. The calendar (ff. 2r–7v), preliminary matter (ff. 8v–11r), psalms (ff.

12r–132r), canticles (ff. 133v–135r/17), collects (f. 171r), and prayers and forms of confession glossed in OE (ff. 171r–191v/18) are original to the psalter. Ff. 191v/19–193v are written in a different Latin hand, although Campbell (1963) sees the OE gloss hand (ff. 191v/19–192v/6) as the same as throughout the prayers. Attached to f. 113r is a note: "N.B. Leaves 113–120 are misplaced; they should follow f. 128." The leaves are numbered consecutively in pencil. To adjust the order of the leaves, the number 121 is written above original 113, although ff. 114–120 are not renumbered. The order of the leaves should thus be as follows: 113 > 121; 114 > 122; 115 > 123; 116 > 124; 117 > 125; 118 > 126; 119 > 127; 120 > 128; 121 > 113; 122 > 114; 123 > 115; 124 > 116; 125 > 117; 126 > 118; 127 > 119; 128 > 120. Ff. 171–193 are also numbered in ink (16c?) from 1–24, although the number 17 is omitted (thus f. 186 is numbered 16 and f. 187 is numbered 18). The same hand responsible for the numbering in ink has also placed numbers next to the prayers, beginning with f. 172v/2–14, which is numbered 5, continuing to f. 187r/17, which is numbered 30; the remaining items in the sequence are unnumbered.

Major psalm-divisions are indicated by full-page illustrations and minor divisions by display lines as follows: Ps. 1 (f. 12r), 20 (f. 25v), 26 (f. 30v), 32 (f. 35r), 38 (f. 42r), 45 (f. 48r), 51 (f. 53r; full page), 59 (f. 58v), 68 (f. 64v), 73 (f. 70r), 79 (f. 77v), 86 (f. 81v), 95 (f. 89v), 101 (92r), 105 (f. 99r), 109 (f. 105r), 119 (f. 125v); f. 133r contains a full-page illumination preceding the canticles. Initials in the display lines are in gold, red, green, and blue ink; the Beatus vir page shows lavish use of gold, with red, green, blue, and purple; the initial verse has lines alternating in green and red; similar use of alternating colors appears at the beginning of Ps. 101. Psalm titles and minor initials are in green, red, and blue. The canticles begin with a gold "C," and red, blue, and green ink are used throughout for titles. The 12c additions use colored initials in yellow, red, blue, and green, with titles in red. The OE hymns and confessional prayers use red and green initials throughout. Scattered incised designs and drawings include: three crude portraits in pencil (f. iii recto), crude drawing of courtier with bird (f. iv verso), late drawing of lion rampant (f. 2r), large bird in brown ink (f. 88v), incised scroll-work in the lobes of initial "B" (f. 94v; Ps. 102), bird (f. 111r), nine faces in various stages of completion, in the same ink as the drawing on f. 88v (f. 191r). The litany, but not the closing petitions, has been lightly crossed through with larges "X's." F. 193v is darkened. F. 1 is written in a Gothic script. The text (to f. 191r) has been identified as in the hand of Eadui Basan (11c; Bishop 1971: 22).

COLLATION: Ff. [ii–iv] + 1–193. Ff. ii and 1 are half-sheets; ff. iii–iv form a bifolium; I<sup>10</sup> (ff. 2–11), II<sup>6+1</sup> (ff. 12–18; f. 12 added), III<sup>8</sup> (ff. 19–26), IV<sup>8</sup> (ff. 27–34), V<sup>8</sup> (ff. 35–42), VI<sup>8</sup> (ff. 43–50), VII<sup>6+1</sup> (ff. 51–57; one added after f. 55, with stub showing after f. 52), VIII<sup>8+1</sup> (ff. 58–66; f. 66 added), IX<sup>8</sup> (ff. 67–74), X<sup>8</sup> (ff. 75–82; bifolium added after f. 79), XI<sup>6</sup> (ff. 83–88); XII<sup>8</sup> (ff. 89–96), XIII<sup>8</sup> (ff. 97–104), XIV<sup>8</sup> (ff. 105–112), XV<sup>8</sup> (ff. 113–120; two bifolia after f. 114), XVI<sup>8</sup> (ff. 121–128), XVII<sup>8</sup> (ff. 129–136), XVIII<sup>8+2</sup> (ff. 137–146; ff. 145–146 form a bifolium), XIX<sup>8</sup> (ff. 147–154), XX<sup>8</sup> (ff. 155–162), XXI<sup>8+2</sup> (ff. 163–170; ff. 163–164 form a bifolium), XXII<sup>12</sup> (ff. 171–182), XXIII<sup>8</sup> (ff. 183–190), ff. 191–193 comprise three half-sheets.

233. London, British Library, Cotton Tiberius C. vi

"Tiberius Psalter"

[Ker 199, Gneuss 378]

HISTORY: Nothing is known about the provenance or peregrinations of this psalter. Ker (Cat., 262) dates the manuscript to s. xi med., Sisam (1959: 59) to the period 1050–1075. Homburger (1912) identifies the ornamentation in the psalter as being of Winchester origin. This evidence, in addition to the textual evidence supplied by the division of Psalm 77 at verse 40, found in three other Winchester manuscripts (British Library, Harley 2904, British Library, Cotton Vitellius E. xviii, and British Library, Arundel 60) and a comparison of the calendars in Arundel 60 and Vitellius E. xviii, bring the Sisams (1959: 5, 59 and note 3) to suggest the psalter was produced at the Old Minster. Bishop (1971: 23) also assigns the manuscript to the Old Minster on the basis of the similarity of the hand to the "Ethelred Troper" (Oxford, Bodleian Library, Bodley 775).

CODICOLOGICAL DESCRIPTION: Leaves measure ca. 230 x 145 mm.; written space ca. 215 x 110 mm. Ruled for twenty-five lines, with double bounding lines, but not ruled for an interlinear gloss. Leaves are arranged HFHF. Shrinkage and cracking visible especially in the beginning and ending folios. Full-page illustrations and ornamented display lines occur at ff. 19v (full-page), 30v (full-page), 31r (Ps. 1), 71v (full-page), 72r (Ps. 51), 114v (full-page), 115r (Ps. 101), 126v (half-page), and 127r (Ps. 109), with minor divisions indicated by elaborate initials at ff. 48v (Ps. 26), 60r (Ps. 38), 73r (Ps. 52), 85r (Ps. 68), 98v (Ps. 80), and 112r (Ps. 97). Colors are green, blue, red, yellow, and purple. Many letters originally in green ink have "burned through," leaving only an outline or a partial letter visible. Psalter collects follow each psalm, with psalm-titles in red. The name "Thomas Cotton" is written in the lower margin of f. 2r. Five unnumbered leaves at the beginning of the codex, the first four of modern paper, the fifth of vellum, with the shelfmark on the recto. F. 1 contains the Cottonian table of contents (two lines) on the recto. Eight modern flyleaves are included at the end of the codex. Unnumbered blank paper leaves have been inserted after ff. 18v, 30v, and 71v to protect the illustrations.

COLLATION: As a result of the Cotton fire of 1731, leaves are mounted individually in paper frames, thus making collation undeterminable. Late signatures in the lower margins (A [f. 2r], E–G [ff. 37r, 47r, 58r], I–P [ff. 72r, 80r, 88r, 96r, 104r, 112r, 121r]) show that quires comprising the psalter proper were likely originally in eights (beginning at f. 31r), possibly with two quires of eight and two of six comprising the prefatory matter of ff. 1–30. Several quires are wanting from the end, as the psalms break off at f. 129v.

“Vespasian Psalter”
[Ker 203, Gneuss 381]

HISTORY: The Latin text of the Roman psalter dates to the 8c and the continuous OE interlinear gloss to the 9c. Canticles, hymns, and prayers (some glossed) were added in the 11c. Although Kuhn posits a Mercian origin for the manuscript, scholars generally favor a Canterbury provenance. Nothing in the manuscript, however, supports the localization, which rests primarily upon an identification, supposedly of this manuscript, made by Thomas of Elmham in his 15c catalogue of books at St. Augustine's:

Est etiam et aliud ‘Psalterium’ supra tabulam magni altaris positum; quod habet exterius imaginem Christi argenteam planam, cum quatuor Evangelistis. In hujus Psalterii primo folio incipit, ‘Omnis scriptura divinitus inspirata.’ In tertio folio incipit, ‘Epistola Damasi papæ ad Ieronymum,’ et in fine Versus ejusdem Damasi; ac deinde ‘Epistola Ieronymi ad Damasum,’ cum Hieronymi versibus. Deinde in quarto folio, ‘De Origine Psalmorum,’ in cuius fine distinguit Psalterium in quinque libros..... In quinto folio ejusdem Psalterii sequitur expositio de Alleluia secundum Hebræos, Chaldaeos, Syros, et Latinos. Item interpretatio ‘Gloriæ’ apud Chaldaeos. Item interpretatio Psalmi cxviii. per singulas literas. In sexto folio sequitur quando psalli vel legi debeat, quomodo Hieronymus scribit; item ‘Ordo Psalmorum per A, B, C, D.’ In septimo folio de literis Hebræis, quæ in Psalterio scribuntur. In octavo folio, ‘Interpretatio Psalmorum,’ usque ad folium undecimum, ubi incipit, ‘Textus Psalterii,’ cum imagine Samuelis sacerdotis, et in fine ejusdem Psalterii sunt hymni de matutinis, de vesperis, et de Dominico die, sicut in alio Psalterio prænotatio habentur (Hardwick 1858: 98).

Nothing is known about the ownership of the manuscript with any certainty until it was acquired by Sir Robert Cotton by 1599 (cf. his notation on f. 12r: “Ro: Cotton Bruceus 1599”) from William Cecil (Lord Burghley), into whose collection the manuscript came by 1566 (see British Library, Lansdowne 8, f. 190r, for Matthew Parker's letter to Cecil thanking him for the use of the psalter).

CODICOLOGICAL DESCRIPTION: After trimming, leaves measure 235 x 180 mm., and are normally ruled for twenty-two lines of Latin text. The writing grid of the main text (including the nine canticles and three hymns) measures 172 x 145 mm., of the prefatory matter 199 x 149 mm., and of the 11c additions 177 x 132 mm. The arrangement of the leaves is generally HFFH or HFHF; vellum is of high quality and moderately suede-like. Pricking in outer margins. Gold is used in all decorated initials, silver for major incipits (except f. 21v). Pigments include green, blue, yellow, red, and violet; lead white is also occasionally used. The first leaf of quire VI (between present ff. 11 and 12) most likely contained a lost Beatus vir page. Stains on f. 142r (after the hymn Pusillus eram) suggest that a single leaf, perhaps a carpet page, prepared separately and with a blank recto, was originally inserted. F. 30v contains a full-page illustration of David. Ornamental lines occur at liturgical divisions (Pss. 26, 38, 52, 68, 80, 97, 109, and 118, with an additional display line at Ps. 17) along with two historiated initials at Pss. 26 and 52; the typical tripartite division found in many psalters does not appear here. Ff. 2–11 and 141v are written in rustic capitals; the psalter proper is written in rounded uncial script, with titles in rustic capitals. Toon (1991: 91) notes a series of letters added in drypoint that he interprets as intended to help a scribe plan the layout of the codex; the marks are found at ff. 12r (c ψ), 13r (e), 14r (f), 14v (g), 15v (h), 16r (i), 18r (k), 18v (l), 19r (m), 19v (n), 20r (o), 20v (p), 22r (r), 24v (s), 25v (t), 26r (u). Patches with monograms, probably added before the OE gloss was entered, are found on 18v, 19r, 19v, 22r, 91r, 121r, 121v, 128r, 128v; that on 153v is used to repair a hole. The monograms, some comprising one or two letters (e.g., ff. 18v, 19r, 19v, 91r, 128r, 128v), others having more elaborate combinations (e.g., ff. 121v, 153r, 153v), are difficult to interpret and may contain personal names or initials of saints' names. F. 11v contains a prayer added in the late 10c or early 11c. In the first half of the 11c, a gathering containing liturgical material was added (ff. 155–160). The last two leaves of the gathering were not written and were subsequently cut out; the first two leaves are mounted to paper stubs and bound to f. 154, itself attached to a stub. Cotton glued to f. 160v a cutting taken from a 15c French breviary. The hand of ff. 155r–160r has been identified as that of Eadui Basan (11c; Bishop 1971: 22).

The fullest discussion and description of the psalter is given by Wright (1967). The entire psalter was edited by Kuhn (1965).

COLLATION: The collation added on a paste-in at the front of the manuscript was made in April 1954, before repair of the binding. The text was recollated for the facsimile edition published in 1967.

I<sup>(1+1)</sup> (ff. 2–3; two single leaves), II<sup>8</sup> (ff. 4–11), III<sup>6 (wants 1)</sup> (ff. 12–15; lost leaf before f. 12, originally forming a bifolium with f. 16 which is now bound with IV), IV<sup>6</sup> (ff. 16–22; f. 16 properly belongs to quire III, but is wrongly bound as the first leaf here, the stub showing after f. 22), V<sup>6</sup> (ff. 23–28), VI<sup>6+1</sup> (ff. 29–35; f. 30 is an inserted leaf, the stub showing after f. 34), VII<sup>6</sup> (ff. 42–47), VIII<sup>6</sup> (ff. 48–53), IX<sup>6</sup> (ff. 54–59), X<sup>6</sup> (ff. 60–65), XI<sup>8</sup> (ff. 66–73), XII<sup>8</sup> (ff. 74–81), XIII<sup>8 ff.</sup> (ff. 82–89), XIV<sup>6+1</sup> (ff. 90–96; f. 95 is an inserted leaf, the stub showing after f. 90), XV<sup>8</sup> (ff. 97–104), XVI<sup>8+1</sup> (ff. 105–113; f. 109 is inserted leaf at the center of the quire), XVII<sup>8</sup> (ff. 114–121), XVIII<sup>8</sup> (ff. 122–129), XIX<sup>8</sup> (ff. 130–137), XX<sup>6+3</sup> (ff. 138–146; ff. 139, 141, and 145 are inserted leaves, with stubs after ff. 144, 143, and 138, respectively; a carpet page comprising a single leaf was likely lost after f. 141), XXI<sup>8</sup> (ff. 147–154; ff. 147 and 154 originally formed a bifolium, but are now non-conjugate), XXII<sup>8</sup> (ff. 155–160; wanting two leaves after f. 160, originally conjugate with ff. 155 and 156, respectively). Gathering I is preceded by a blank, unnumbered bifolium; gathering XXII is followed by a bifolium and a singleton, both blank and unnumbered.

[Ker 224, Gneuss 407]

HISTORY: Probably written at Winchester mid-11c. The calendar, dated by Wormald (1934) to ca. 1060, is most likely from New Minster, but as Ker (Cat.) notes the added litanies “suggest the cathedral priory rather than New Minster.” Bishop (1908) and Wildhagen (1921) favor the scriptorium of Winchester Cathedral as the place where the manuscript was written. Belonged to Robert Boyer in 1590 according to a note in a transcript of portions of the manuscript by Francis Tate (British Library, Cotton Julius C. ii, f. 68v: “ii Junij 1590. ex libro n(ost)ri R. Boyeij ante psalmos dauides. Saxonice & Latine c(on)scripto”).

CODICOLOGICAL DESCRIPTION: Ff. [ii] + 146 + [ii]. Modern paper endleaves. At the front of the codex are two inserted paper leaves, the first detailing the rearrangement of ff. 1–17 when the codex was rebound in 1954:

New	Old
1–7	1–7
(several leaves lost)
8	8
9a	9b
9b	9a
10–12	10–12
13	15
14	14
15	13
16	16
17a	17b
17b	17a

The second insert contains notes made by Rosier in August 1959 on the arrangement of misplaced patches in the manuscript. Leaves measure 210 x 126 mm. Leaves are ruled for 26 lines, but not ruled for a gloss. The litany is in two columns ruled for 26 lines each; the prayers following the litany are also ruled for 26 lines. Ff. 144v–145r are in two columns ruled for 36 lines; ff. 145v–146v are ruled for 34 lines. The litany and prayers were added in the 12c, the list of confraternities (f. 9r) and the invocations to the Virgin Mary (f. 17r/20a–17v) 13/14c. Initial letters are in red, blue, and green ink, with psalm titles in red. The front matter and calendar show green, red, and blue ink. F. 18r shows a large initial B in green, blue, red, and brown. No major psalm divisions are indicated. The manuscript was burned in the Cotton fire of 1731; the leaves have generally lost left and right margins (thus resulting in substantial loss of the psalm introductions to Pss. 1–50), and shrinkage is evident in the upper margins. Leaves have suffered severe splitting. Staining is evident on f. 104 and following. Leaves are mounted in separate paper frames numbered 1–146. The main texts (psalms and canticles) are glossed in two hands, the first from ff. 18r–138r, the second from the Magnificat on f. 138r until f. 140v.

COLLATION: Collation is indeterminable, since the leaves are mounted separately in paper frames.

"Regius Psalter"

[Ker 249, Gneuss 451]

HISTORY: Almost certainly written at Winchester in 10c, with additions in 11c. Associated with Canterbury 12c and later. Dewick assigns the office of the Virgin Mary (ff. 1r-6v) to St. Mary's, Winchester, in the mid 11c. Ker (Cat.) notes that the items 'Eala þu ælmihtiga god unasecgendlicre' (ff. 197r-198r) and 'Man mot hine gebiddan' (f. 198r) display a hand "of the kind written at Christ Church" in 11c. The association with Canterbury is confirmed by a note on f. 198v: '... midne winter ic scolde cuman ham ... þa axode [?mon] me hwæþer me wære leofre ... þar be wæstan [ponne on] Christes cyrcan. þa sæde ic þæt me wære leofre on Christes cyrcean þonne þar be westan. swa hit æfre gewyrþe. amen' (Sisam and Sisam 1959: 23). Additional notes on f. 198v have been linked with Christ Church charters and a royal grant (O'Neill 1986). Ker also notes that the letter-mark "r" on fol. 8r "shows that it was at Christ Church, Canterbury, in s. xi and later" (320). Belonged in the 16c to Archbishop Thomas Cramner and subsequently Lord Lumley (d. 1609) (see fol. 8r for names).

CODICOLOGICAL DESCRIPTION: Ff. iv + 198 + iv. Modern paper endleaves, the first and last marbled. Leaves measure 266 x 193 mm; writing grid measures 196 x 125 mm. Ff. 1-7 are ruled for twenty-one lines; the psalms are ruled for nineteen lines, with room provided for a gloss. Arrangement of leaves is HFHF. Quire numbering can be seen in the bottom margins: i (f. 15v), ii (f. 23v), v (f. 47v; erased but visible), vi (f. 55v), vii (f. 63v), viii (f. 71v); traces of a "v" can be seen on f. 79v. Ff. 1-7, containing the Office to the Virgin Mary, are later than the psalter; the use of Roman numbering to mark the end of a quire (e.g., what was originally quire I ends at f. 15v) suggests that no prefatory matter accompanied the psalter either originally or (if the quires were numbered later) by the time of the numbering of the quires; similar numbering in what appears to be the same hand is found in Royal 4. A. xiv, which was written by the same scribe as that of Royal 2. B. v. Psalms have been numbered in modern pencil from 1–70 (stopping at f. 82r), and from 84–86 (stopping at f. 102r). The original modern foliation is off by one number, with “107” repeated on f. 108, and continuing to the end of the codex. These numbers have been crossed out and corrected (Roeder follows the old numbering in his edition). Binding is in red leather.

F. 1r contains four Latin lemmata and their OE glosses, the last incomplete, in the right margin: ‘cálida aura: hat weder; frígida aura: ceald weder; úmida aura: wæt weder; umidu(m): wæt’ (ed. Dewick 1902: note to f. 1); in bottom margin and on f. 8r is the name Lumley. Psalm divisions occur at Pss. 1 (f. 8r), 51 (f. 64r), and 101 (f. 117r), with initials in green, blue, and green, respectively. Initials to psalms are colored with green, red, and yellow ochre, mostly the latter, with yellow ochre used mostly for initial letters throughout (e.g., Ps. 1: green; Ps. 2: untinted; Ps. 3: green; Ps. 4: untinted; Ps. 5: yellow; Ps. 6 yellow with green band; Pss. 7–8: yellow with red band; Pss. 9–49: yellow; Ps. 50: green; Ps. 51: blue; Pss. 52–59: yellow; etc.). Psalm-titles are in red, with Latin text and gloss in brown ink.

The added OE texts are written in a number of different hands at different times: (a) ff. 190v/8–192r/12 and ff. 192r/12–196v/9, 10/11c; (b) f. 196v/10–13, early 11c; (c) ff. 197r–198r/14 and f. 198r/15–19, early 11c; (d) f. 6r/14–20, mid 11c; (e) f. 6rv, early 11c.

COLLATION: I<sup>6+1</sup> (ff. 1–7; leaf inserted after 6), II<sup>8</sup> (ff. 8–15), III<sup>8</sup> (ff. 16–23), IV<sup>8</sup> (ff. 24–31), V<sup>8</sup> (ff. 32–29), VI<sup>8</sup> (ff. 40–47), VII<sup>8</sup> (ff. 48–55), VIII<sup>8</sup> (ff. 56–63), IX<sup>8</sup> (ff. 64–71), X<sup>8</sup> (ff. 72–79), XI<sup>8</sup> (ff. 80–87), XII<sup>8</sup> (ff. 88–95), XIII<sup>8</sup> (ff. 96–103), XIV<sup>8</sup> (ff. 104–111), XV<sup>8</sup> (ff. 112–119), XVI<sup>8</sup> (ff. 120–127), XVII<sup>8</sup> (ff. 128–135), XVIII<sup>8</sup> (ff. 136–143), XIX<sup>8</sup> (ff. 144–151), XX<sup>8</sup> (ff. 152–159), XXI<sup>8</sup> (ff. 160–167), XXII<sup>8</sup> (ff. 168–175), XXIII<sup>8</sup> (ff. 176–183), XXIV<sup>8</sup> (ff. 184–191), XXV<sup>8</sup> (ff. 192–198; wants 8).

306. London, British Library, Stowe 2

"Stowe Psalter" or "Spelman Psalter"

[Ker 271, Gneuss 499]

HISTORY: Dated by Ker (Cat.) to s. xi med., and by Sisam and Sisam (1959: 67) to 1050–1075, who also assign the psalter to southwestern England. Turner (1962) suggests that Le Havre Bibliothèque Municipale MS. 330 has a scribe or scribes in common with Stowe 2, and since Le Havre 330 is a product of New Minster (Winchester), Stowe 2 has been assigned to this center, although its gloss has not been firmly linked with any of the extant psalters produced at Winchester. The manuscript belonged to Sir Henry Spelman, but most of the work on the edition was completed by his son, John Spelman, and published in 1640. The manuscript later belonged to Thomas Astle (d. 1803; British Library catalogue 1895: vol. 1, p. 2; see also Ker) and, according to Ker, to the Marquis of Buckingham and to Lord Ashburnham (d. 1878). It was acquired by the British Library in 1883.

CODICOLOGICAL DESCRIPTION: Leaves measure 280 x 175 mm., with a writing grid of 225 x 135 mm. The text is ruled for twenty lines and for a gloss, except for quire I and the beginning of quire II (where the ruling for a gloss begins at f. 11v). Arrangement of the leaves is generally HFHF. Leaves are thick and stiff. Brown ink is used for the gloss and Latin text; titles are in red. Folios show two sets of numbers: the first in ink, numbered 1–182, but crossed out; the second, in pencil, numbered 1–180. The difference in numbering can be attributed to the loss of two leaves after f. 122, breaking off at Ps. 106.16 confregit and beginning again mid-verse at Ps. 108.7 [con]uellem (f. 123r); the loss of the leaves occurred after Spelman worked with the manuscript, since the missing portion is included in his 1640 edition. The original gloss has been erased in psalms 1 (except for part of v. 1), 2 (except for be of becomon in v. 2 and portions of the gloss in vv. 12–13), 4 (first five words), 9.39, 10, 11.2–3 proximum, 22.4–6, 23.1–2 (in part), and in the canticles, ff. 167v, 168r, and 178v (see Kimmens 1979: xxii). Other erasures appear elsewhere throughout the psalms. In most cases, over the erasures an unidentified 16c hand has added an OE gloss. Major divisions within the psalter are marked by elaborate initials, and occur at ff. 1r (Ps. 1: Beatus vir), 56r (Ps. 51: Quid gloriaris), and 111v (Ps. 101: Domine exaudi). Crudely-drawn ornaments and animals occur at ff. 43r, 87v, 90v, 96r, and 168v; pen-trials occur at ff. 1r, 35r, 48r, 116r, 154v (alphabet), 162v, and 180rv. The name Kateryn Rudston is written in the bottom margin of f. 9r in a 16c hand that can be seen elsewhere in the codex (e.g., "Kater," f. 53r). Rudston also seems to be responsible for numbering psalm-verses into Ps. 9 (ending on f. 9r). As a result of the rubricator's use of green ink, letters that have been "eaten away" occur commonly. The poor condition of f. 1r suggests that the manuscript stood unbound, although it is not certain that the manuscript ever contained a calendar and prefatory matter. Colored initials are in blue, green, red, and purple. Stitching with colored thread (brown or, less often, blue) can be seen on ff. 1, 13, 15, 40, 75, 77, 89, 113, 134, and 138. Small tabs are attached to three leaves: f. 77rv ("3." on verso, "lib" on recto), f. 101r ("lib"), and f. 122r ("lib"). Numerous pencil marks occur throughout the psalter, and some glosses are added in pencil. Slashes, brackets, and asterisks, along with large letters and numbers (e.g., C4 [f. 6r], C5 [f. 6v], C6 [f. 7r], D1 [8r], etc., visible to P on f. 51r), suggest that the psalter was probably collated with another text, although this text has not been identified. Late (14c?) versicles and antiphons are added in the margins. F. 10r shows that the erasures of the original Old English gloss were done before the marginalia was added, since the erasures extend beneath the added matter. The name Henry Spelman (Henrīcī Spelman) is written on ff. 1r and 180v, the latter of which bears an imprimatur dated May 17, 1638. Modern flyleaves, blank except for the first, which notes examination of the manuscript in April 1893. Bound in leather (17c), with tooled borders.

COLLATION: Ff. iii + 180 + v. I<sup>8</sup> (ff. 1–8), II<sup>8</sup> (ff. 9–16), III<sup>8</sup> (ff. 17–24), IV<sup>8</sup> (ff. 25–32), V<sup>8</sup> (ff. 33–40), VI<sup>8</sup> (ff. 41–48), VII<sup>6+1</sup> (ff. 49–55; f. 53 is an added leaf after 4), VIII<sup>8</sup> (ff. 56–63), IX<sup>8</sup> (ff. 64–71), X<sup>8</sup> (ff. 72–79), XI<sup>8</sup> (ff. 80–87), XII<sup>8</sup> (ff. 88–95), XIII<sup>8</sup> (ff. 96–103), XIV<sup>8</sup> (ff. 104–111), XV<sup>8</sup> (ff. 112–119), XVI<sup>8 (wants 4 and 5)</sup> (ff. 120–125; 2 leaves lost after f. 122), XVII<sup>8</sup> (ff. 126–133), XVIII<sup>8</sup> (ff. 134–141), XIX<sup>8</sup> (ff. 142–149), XX<sup>8</sup> (ff. 150–157), XXI<sup>8</sup> (ff. 158–165), XXII<sup>8</sup> (ff. 166–173), XXI–II<sup>10 (wants 8, 9, 10)</sup> (ff. 174–180; three leaves wanting after fol. 180).
